Representative Ryan's speech on the river and harbor bill, which we publish elsewhere, we can add nothing:

Judge Spriggs, agent for the Gould road, arrived in this city on last Thursday night, putting up at the Occidental hotel. On Friday he met a number of our city, and a meeting was arranged for Friday night, at the Council chamber. At the hour designated there was a meeting of the remarkers of the subject, and will well repay perusal. It will be found on the first page. His Osage land bill, also published in this issue, is of great importance to settlers living east of the sixth principal meridian, and calls for prompt action.

By the dispatches we notice that our com plimentary notice of the Rev. D. P.
